

SIERRA CLUB Volunteer Work Day at the DT Fleming Arboretum
MOTHERS Day MAY 2018

Sierra Club Volunteers weed in preparation to plant 170 Endangered Hawaiian Spanish Needle as understory amongst a grove of rare Mahoe.

New Sierra Club Volunteers work well together practicing proper planting, most importantly to not plant too deep.

Devoted Community Volunteers join Sierra Club's Volunteer Work Day to FA twice a year.

ROB WELTMAN tirelessly organizes Sierra Community work days monthly throughout Maui, organizing Fleming Arboretum visits twice a year.

Today, Sierra Club Adopted Forest area with trees and understory are “overhead”

Pau Hana (Hawaiian for “finish work”) after a half day completing Arboretum Projects.
